To whom it may concern.

As an investment counselor and Real Estate salesman my work entails a great deal of communication with people of all levels and backgrounds. From the highest executives requiring intelligent investments and an optimum return on their dollars, to the first home buyer who just wants an affordable place to call home, my challenge is to understand their needs and satisfy their requirements.

This challenge has been facilitated greatly by my exposure to Bagwan Rajneesh's work. Having read many of his books and listened to tapes and enjoyed many videos of his lectures, his great insight into the human condition have helped me tremendously in my work. Several years ago, I was first exposed to one of his books... Vol. 1 of The Three Treasures, (reflection on the Tao). It was so exciting and fascinating to find such clarity and originality. This was just the beginning.

When I heard that he wished to stay in America up in Oregon, I was so pleased.

His contribution to community thinking and individual development are so valuable to our country and for the whole planet. His ideas lead to peaceful, creative and joyous existence in a total practical fashion. I sincerely hope he is allowed to remain with us in this country and shower his understanding and guidance on us all.

Sincerely,

Patrick Mitchell.
