Dear Sir

July 24th 1983

I was living in Austria and my profession is teacher and I am a director for children theatre. I am 32 years old and I have got a child, he is 3 years old.

Before I met Bhagwan I was seeking for something I don't know. I was travelling around the world seeing how people are living around the world, experiencing their religions and looking for what life is there. When I was in Austria teaching in school, I went to all kind of groups, who tried to live another way of life. I was with some Yoga schools, with the Anthroposophen, and I was visiting Communes

And I always felt, good another way another idea but I feel something important is missing. So I felt the only way to find is go on. One day I visit a friend of mine - in this time I was pregnant - she had got a book of Bhagwan and showed it to me. I started reading and could not stop - because this man was writing so simple and he was saying the truth. And for me it was clear that this man is one who knows life. I bought and read one book after the other and it got total clear, I have to go to India and live near this man. And I know when I don't do it I will miss my life. So what to do, I was pregnant, just bore the little of my child, and all this terrible stories about all this diseases in India.

But after the birth we went to India to stay for one year there. When I arrived with my little son and I was standing in front of the Ashram door - I start crying because I was so happy to be set home.

For one year I could be there, hear his discourses and see an enlightened master. Nobody can imagine what it is, before you see him. Every moment to be in his presence is valuable. To be in his commune is such a gift that only one can know, who is here with him. He is teaching us to live life in totality in every possible way, and we learn to live our lives with awareness. Consciousness about ourselves and we are doing makes a new quality of life. When I went back to Austria, I saw that I had changed my life and the way to look at persons in a loving way. To be with kids in a loving way, to be their friend, it is just joy to be with them in school.

And know it is even more important for me to come to his commune in Rajneeshpuram and live for a while here in his energyfield. And I am thankful for every day to stay here. He is a gift for this world, let us treat him as a treasure let him be here in America.

Sincerely yours

Cabrille Unger Armand Humbala
