TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN

My field is Social Work. Having graduated from the University of New South Wales, Sydney, Australia, in 1974, I then worked with the Health Commission of New South Wales and later moved to London where I was employed by the London Borough of Southwark, England. During this time I became inspired by the exceptional spiritual leader, Bhagwan Shree Rajneesh, and could assist people more so as a Social Worker with His guidance - of celebrating life to its fullest, and of becoming aware of each persons' individuality and uniqueness. With His inspiration I could give a new dimension to the lives of people in misery and in complex economic and social problems. They were able to discover joy and find some clarity in their lives.

As I became a disciple myself in 1980 I have found my life becoming more beautiful, enriching and loving, and this I share with my clients.

Bhagwan Shree Rajneesh is an exceptional influence on Psychology and Sociology in its practice as well as in academic areas, on an International scale.
