To Whom It May Concern.

This statement is particularly for the benefit of any person who may be interested in the significance of Bhagwan Shree Rajreesh as a silent teacher.

I took sannyas on September 21st, 1981. Since that time my connection with Bhagwan Shree Rajreesh has been through a silent communion between us. This is a spiritual experience of utter significance for me.

Though I do sometimes yearn to hear his voice I no longer need to hear him speak. In this way of silent communion I am entering deeper into prayerfulness and meditation.

Bhagwan Shree Rajreesh is a spiritual teacher for me. He is a Master. My relationship with him has gone beyond a psychological connection and exists in a spiritual realm.

Through my silent communion with Bhagwan Shree Rajreesh, and through other things, I am deepening my experience of Christ, of Buddha, of life. In silent communion I enter into a mystical union with God.
