

D.A. STOCKER
Ba (hons) Flinders University Graduate-directors course
AUSTRALIAN FILM AND TELEVISION SCHOOL
SYDNEY AUSTRALIA

To whom it may concern, I've tasted fame and fortune and it falls to an insignificant shadow when one has drunk the cool waters of the infinite within

There i was an exciting young film director charged up on adrenalin and the joy of creating masterpieces. But each time a film was finished an empty feeling; the accolades of the critics are not nourishment. accept for the most neurotic. What to do the joy was in the doing and although there was a dream to be realized when it was finished an empty feeling.

Then Bhagwan and the turn from gaining satisfaction from outside to inside. Not riches, not fame, they carry a shallow smile; within is real peace and contentment. So slowly slowly being with Bhagwan, im getting what i really want

In Poona he talked but even then it was the sharing of silence. Now when he drives past each day i drop like a wave in the ocean. At satsang it is the same just being together with someone you love and the whole universe. No chattering mind peace, laughter; sounds incredible doesn't it.

EXHIBIT "A-2319"

love and regards
D.A. Stocker