

To whom it may concern,

I am a samnyasin of Bhagwan Shree Rajgurosh.

I have a degree in Social Work and have worked in various areas of this profession.

I have also worked as a researcher and presenter on Commercial television.

I have taken samnyas since Bhagwan has been "in silence".

Although I knew of Bhagwan when he was talking, I did not feel drawn to him then.

2.

But in his silence, his presence has been a profound and powerful experience for me. It has touched me deeply, bringing a religious way of living into all aspects of my life and work.

Bhagwan's silence is more powerful than his words, and this I have no doubt and I recognize that this phase of his teaching has as much and more to offer me than all his years of discourses.

It is perhaps difficult for 3.

this to be understood by all people.

The previous discussion of the methods of Bhagwan's teachings have often discounted the effect of silence. I ask you to consider this again - perhaps even in light of the powerful connection that exists between lovers when they share their silence.

The experience with Bhagwan is even more powerful and knowable than that.

Yours Sincerely,

Dr. Deva Sadas.
