To whom it may concern

Since I have met Bhagwan Shree Rajneesh and "tasted" his Breadfield. I know there are more things possible than I thought in the way of living together peacefully and in harmony with each other and nature. I have never before experienced such crowds of people like on the last festival in Rajneeshpurnam, Oregon, going so easily around - without fights - without any disturbances. Rajneeshpurnam has been growing in a year's time from a deserted Bower ranch in a fruitful farming community and I think this happened because all the people living there are prepared to work and they do love it to create something really beautiful near Bhagwan Shree Rajneesh. All this has great importance - it is something to show to the world. To show that dreams of peace and beauty can come through, and this is Bhagwan's vision. The presence of Bhagwan Shree Rajneesh is really important in my feeling. He shows us how to work and teaches new ways of being together. Being together in all ways should be a celebration of life. That's how all religious ceremonies are real celebrations in the presence of Bhagwan Shree Rajneesh. Because he has so much love for every thing and every one.

I hope you will consider all this when making a decision about Bhagwan staying in America.

It is someone you should be happy with to have in your country.

Yours Sincerely
Mic Ayato
