To Whom It May Concern,

Y. Takagi

After Bhagwan Shree Rajneesh had entered into silence, I became His disciple. Since then, the fragrance of Oregon, a place I visited for the first time, has remained in my heart and is never going to disappear. When Bhagwan entered into silence, He gave a shower of tremendous bliss and compassion into my heart.

The brightness and joy of Bhagwan which is far beyond words, has also become a brightness and joy of mine. To become His disciple in Rajneeshpuram with His blessings was a taste of bliss and beginning of my new life.

Now I am writing this letter in the distant countrz of Japan, however, the joy I tasted in Rajneeshpuram permeates into my heart and goes on flowing within my heart. I miss Oregon day by day.

May God bless Bhagwan and us, His disciples!

Sincerely,

Yoshitaka Takagi
