To whom it may concern,

As one of Bhagwan Shree Rajneesh's more recent disciples, I would like to express my feelings on his silent communion with disciples. I took sannyas in November 1982 - almost 11 years after Bhagwan went into silence. Although I had been aware of Bhagwan & his teachings through his books at the time he was in Poona, it was not until he became silent that I experienced a sense of communion with him. The feeling could only be described as a deep experience of love and trust and this influenced my life greatly and resulted in my taking sannyas.

To me it is irrelevant that Bhagwan does not communicate in words anymore. His silent communion is just so powerful and beautiful and seems to be teaching so many people. I am a pharmacist, married with 2 children and we are now all sannyasins. Our lives are much happier and more fulfilled since we took sannyas and we feel a sense of gratitude to Bhagwan for teaching our lives by his silent presence.

Yours faithfully,

Ms Anurag Shalinda
