To Whom It May Concern

I am a graduate of the National University of Ireland. During that time I held the position of Social & Cultural Officer for 10,000 students. I studied social psychology for 4 years in relation to Business studies including Business Administration, Personnel Management, Marketing and Political Economics.

I first heard of Bhagwan by reading his religious books and became immediately impressed by the depth and insight which he has on human behaviour. In the science of psychology he surpasses any other writer of this time and has contributed totally to this science as no other writer or teacher has.

The presence of Bhagwan in the U.S.A. will undoubtedly enrich, culturally, and economically the welfare of this country. He is today one of the most exceptional religious teachers of international fame and has contributed so much understanding and love to psychology, the development of man and the vision to free man from his complexities and frustrations and to create a new man.

No greater or truly worthwhile experiment is happening in the world today as is happening in Rajneeshpuram Oregon under the religious guidance of Bhagwan Shree Rajneesh.

Yours faithfully,
