To whom it may concern

In my recent sociological inquiries, I had the occasion to know much of the experiences of the Italian Sannyasin of Bhagwan Rajneesh.

What I think about the nature of these experiences is that the Sannyasin are really walking on a spiritual way, which leads them to face important problems of self-integration, equilibrium between mind and body, growing awareness.

It is my opinion that attention to this kind of problems should be augmented in all countries, and particularly in most developed ones.

The quality of the Sannyasin experiences is crucially related to the teaching of Bhagwan Rajneesh. I hope that the U.S. authorities will understand the high value of his spiritual work, and eliminate all bureaucratic obstacles which menace his permanence in the american borders.

Yours sincerely
