re: Baghwan

even in the Federal Republic of Germany Baghwan has become a person which is well known to people here to a substantial extent. Not only that he is celebrated by his impressible number of adherents as a leader of the biggest mental movement of the 20th century but even he and his organisation is playing an increasing role in the field of practical psychiatry in my country.

Particularly in the field of my law business Baghwan is acknowledged by our administration as the leader of a religious movement with all legal consequences, the status of which is rarely granted.

Keeping the above mentioned in mind men fairly can say that Baghwan has become a celebrity even in the Federal Republic of Germany in the past ten years and consequently should be treated as such.

Sincerely Yours
