Dear Swami Premdas:

I gladly answer your request, to write about my experience with Bhagwan and his world in order to support his application for immigration in the United States.

To me Bhagwan's ideas and his path towards inner growth have become of utmost importance during the past three months. Thru his books first and then thru contact with some of his most dedicated followers I have found efficient help for a very crucial health problem of mine. Upon that experience I decided to get closer to Bhagwan's world and to go the path he proposes. For this reason I need a stable relationship with him and his commune in Oregon.

Therefore I am interested in him not being forced away from the place he decided to live in good health, from the place also, where he started his most far reaching experiment in human living.

In love and with due respect
fraternally yours
