To whom it may concern

Here I want to express why I want that Bhagwan my Master stays in America. He is the greatest Teacher and Lover I have known. And this world needs love and meditation. It needs people who love themselves, who are able to love others. My experience is that this is happening here in Bhagwan's community. He teaches us to be silent and in this silence and this peace we come to know our real selves. I want this community with him to happen because it's the only place I know where people live and work in harmony with themselves and with nature. What is happening here is the greatest change in humanity
