To Whom It May Concern

I am a journalist trained and qualified on the Canberra Times newspaper in Australia. For 10 years I worked in journalism in Australia and around the world and in the production and publicity of film in Israel and the USA. For three years I produced and distributed educational audio tapes throughout Australia.

In 1979 I came across Bhagwan Shree Rajneesh through his sannyasins here in Melbourne, Australia. Workshops I did with his sannyasins totally altered my perspective and outlook on life.

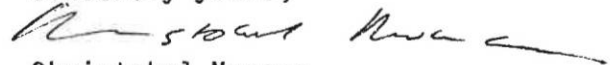

In the field of creative promotion and publicity, my approach has radically altered after listening to Bhagwan's tapes and reading his books:

"Unless you contribute something to life, unless you beautify life a little bit more, you will never feel that your life has any meaning. Meaning is a by-product of creative contribution".

- Bhagwan Shree Rajneesh, Turn On, Tune In and Drop the Lo

Bhagwan's religious vision encompasses many other fields. He has inspired a new dimension and clarity to my work and to the attitude I hold to raising my child.

Sincerely yours,
