To whom it may concern,

Bhajan Shree Ramesh.

How ever to share by words what he means to me?

When I now write his name, I feel love - just now.

This last Festival in Oregon I saw him for the first time since Poona. Just one glimpse and I was crying and crying and then didn't have no speak for hours. So happy! Such incredible moments of peace and love in me.

I lived in communes with other sannyasins since I took sannyas almost three years ago. It made my life so much richer and fuller - not that it is only fun...

Living with sannyasins creates this very special energy field of Bhajan, of love.

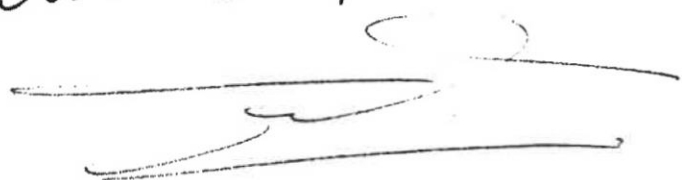

Growing up, I always experienced

Life and society as very restricting killing re. killing nature.

The commune is very much like a university, a school for opening up a school for awareness out of respect for life, for food.

That is my religion - that is where I need the guidance of the Shogwan and the support of the commune - growing out of my unawareness.

with love,
